

Business Engineer / Project Consultant (m/f)

Swiss Life is a leading provider of life insurance and pension solutions in Switzerland. Swiss Life Private Placement Life Insurance is a young and very successful subsidiary of the Swiss insurance group. It offers global, innovative and customised wealth management concepts for high net worth individuals. The company is already one of the world's leading providers in the private placement life insurance segment. The place of work is Zurich.

Your area of responsibility

- Support the delivery of critical business projects in a high-paced start-up environment
- Map business processes and implement appropriate functionality, systems and software supporting these processes
- Perform business analysis in developing functional requirements and reviewing technical specifications
- Support the creation of the technical specifications
- Define, support development and test insurance-based software application
- Use quality assurance procedures and follow project management methodology to assure high quality software and high quality in project execution
- Work with line managers, external specialists and IT in defining and delivering the functional and technical content into the projects
- Prepare necessary reports on project status to the head of business engineering

Your strengths

- University level education (or Fachhochschule) in an appropriate subject in IT (or economics) or adequate education with professional experience (preferably in financial services environment),
- 3+ years of related experience, which includes previous software development, technical support or consulting
- Solid understanding of full range of SDLC (Software Development Life Cycle) or application implementation life cycles, standard processes and industry best practices
- Firm background in systems analysis and design
- Hands-on mentality and proven experience having run through a few complete software development life-cycles or application implementation life cycles
- Know-how of process definition, general knowledge of IT Architecture and good understanding of relational databases
- High motivation to deliver results within short deadlines, ability to handle pressure and stress in a start-up environment
- Hands-on mentality, adaptive and quick learner with a bias for action, proactiveness and thoroughness
- Knowledge in one of the following areas desired: Insurance, Asset Management, Book-Keeping
- German with very good language skills in English (spoken and written)
- Strong communication skills

Contact

hr.ppli@swisslife.com – Please enter the reference number 2012.

We look forward to receiving your electronic application by e-mail.

For this position we do not consider any applications from recruitment agencies.